The SAT®

Each year, more than two million students throughout 175 countries and territories take the SAT®. Why? Because they know the SAT is one of the best ways to reach college success. The SAT tests the academic skills and knowledge you are taught in school and how well you apply that knowledge. It's what most colleges use to get to know you better, helping them understand how you think, solve problems and communicate.

Why Take the SAT

The SAT is an important step on the path to college. It's accepted by colleges and universities throughout the country, and some even use it to place you out of certain classes.

It helps you with college planning.

The SAT connects you to free college planning resources that can help you learn more about the application process, access financial aid tools, explore majors and more — all to help you find the right fit.

It connects you to scholarships and financial support.

There are many ways the SAT can help you and scholarship organizations find each other. Many colleges also use your scores for merit awards.

It gives you an equal chance.

The SAT was created to help promote equality in college admission. It still does so today. The SAT is the most rigorously researched and designed test in the world, which ensures that students from all backgrounds have an equal chance to succeed.

Get More from the SAT

My SAT Online Score Report is a free tool that gives you the meaning behind the numbers and insight into your strengths and weaknesses so you can learn from your performance.

Score Choice™ gives you the option to choose which SAT scores you send to colleges based on what each college wants to receive.

Student Search Service® allows you to hear from colleges, universities, and nonprofit educational and scholarship organizations that are looking for students just like you.

SAT School Day

Your community wants to open doors for you. Thanks to the educational sponsorship in your district or state, you have the opportunity to take the SAT during a regular school day. You and your classmates get to test for free in familiar surroundings with people you know.

Practice with College Board Resources

- Use The Official SAT Online Course™, with 18 interactive lessons and multimedia content, 10 official practice tests, sample essays, auto essay scoring, personalized score reports and more. Log on at satonlinecourseschool.org.
- If you've taken the PSAT/NMSQT®, sign in to My College QuickStart™. There you can review your previous test performance and follow a personalized study plan aligned to the lessons in The Official SAT Online Course.

Use Your Free Score Sends

Your registration includes four free score reports sent to colleges or scholarship programs. Take advantage of these to introduce yourself to institutions that interest you.

- Go to collegeboard.org/MYSAT to use (or create) your free College Board account.
- You can add or change the score report recipients in your registration record at any time until nine days after test day. Remember, the first four reports are free during this time period!

Ask your counselor for more information about registering and practicing for the SAT.

No matter what method your school is using to help you register, you will be able to take the SAT free of charge.

To make the most of what the College Board has to offer, you will need a free College Board account at sat.org. If you already have an account, you're all set. If you don't have an account yet, it takes just seconds to set one up.

See your counselor about your next steps for starting on the road to college!

BigFuture™

Once you have decided to apply to college, you will need a plan to make that goal a reality. Take a look at bigfuture.org, a comprehensive college planning site filled with examples of how real students made their college choices. The site can help you find out more about the application process, access financial aid tools, explore majors and more — all to help you narrow down your choices and find the right college. Go to bigfuture.org to learn more about all the resources available, and to start creating your own customized plans to make the dream of college a reality.

YouCanGo!™

YouCanGo!™ shows that the goal of going to college is within reach. YouCanGo! features video and transcript testimonials of students who, while facing many obstacles, managed to apply and go to college. It challenges students to “take the pledge” — to make a commitment to go to college and share their desire with others. Visit ycg.org today!
